Should we direct these queries to the team in Durango?

Thanks-

Kelly Zito,
I'm a reporter at KUNM Radio in New Mexico, and I'm covering the spill's impacts on the Navajo Nation.

At yesterday's Navajo Nation Council meeting, delegates criticized the EPA for a lack of communication about the Animas River disaster and suggested that an independent company should be conducting the testing—not just the EPA.

Does the EPA have any thoughts about those two points?

Thanks,
